George Orwell's novel, 1984, provoked many new thoughts after it was published in 1949. (It is interesting to note that almost every line in the dramatic adaptation comes from the novel.) We chose to produce 1984 because we believe it offers a preview of what our world might become ----- a place where even thought is controlled and manipulated. The struggle of Winston Smith is the struggle of man throughout time to exercise his basic rights.
